1 They were railway lines.

2 The government started making greenways in 1993, for walkers and cyclists.

3 They are very quiet because they are a long way from towns and roads.

4 They are good paths for walkers and cyclists because they are flat.

5 You can stop at the old railway stations to eat or rest.

6 You can discover more about each area at visitors' centres and museums and on information boards.

It doesn't matter if students don't know the answers at this stage, as they will find out in the text, but for reference they are: the top picture is the Country Club Plaza in Kansas while the bottom one is the Cathedral and the Giralda Bell Tower in Seville. The cities are sister cities and the tower in Kansas is a copy of the tower in Giralda.

get in until after midnight. I know I said I wanted to get away, but I'm already exhausted! Next time I go away, I'm definitely not flying! The sightseeing tour sets off early tomorrow, so I might look around on my own.

I won't have wifi outside but I'll message you when I get back to the hotel. Goodnight!

The letters in the code are the next ones in the alphabet to the original letters. b in the code = a, c = b, d = c, etc. The story turns out well.

When my family moved to a different city last year, I went through a hard time at my new school because I'm very shy. For weeks, I would sit alone at break time. I used to think, 'It's fine. I can do without friends.' But in fact, I was really lonely! Then one day a classmate said, 'Hey! Why don't you come out with me and my friends tonight? We want to try out the new pizza restaurant in town.' I'm so happy that I didn't turn her down. I had a great time (and great pizza!) and from that day had a new group of friends. I've settled down in my new school now and look forward to it, because I can see them there. We've even signed up to pizza cooking classes together!
